Descriptions of site pages

Part 1: Login/signup

To login to the site a user must have an active profile. If they do not it can be made on the login page by entering the required information. Then the user must confirm the email from the message sent to the chosen email. Note that the email must be an @mun.ca type or it will be rejected.

Part 2: Nav bar

The nav bar located at the top of every page other than the login/signup page is used to select which section of the site the user wishes to access. From this bar all major pages can be reached and at the right side of the bar is the user's profile picture. Clicking on this provides likes to logout, return to the profile page or access account settings. The button marked "MUNSSN" will also return the user to the profile page. Finally the bell symbol is the notification center that will inform the user of requests, updates etc.

Part 3: profile page

Under the section marked "My Info" a user can select a profile picture by clicking on the default image and selecting a new one.
Next following that is the friends section, here the user can see a limited number of suggested friends and a number of existing friends. Suggested friends can be friend requested from here.
After this is the main body of the page including the timeline, schedule and resume sections able to be selected from the top of the interface.
Under the timeline the user can post about anything they want and set permissions for who can comment on this post from a dropdown menu.
With the schedule function the user can enter their schedule for whichever term they are in which can be viewed in a day, week or month timeframe.
Finally the resume section allows a user to upload a pdf of their resume to be stored on the site.

Part 4: group page

On this page the user can search for groups, create groups, view suggested groups based on courses and see a list of their current groups.

Part 5: friends page

On this page the user can search friends, see a limited number of friends based on friends of friends and see a list of their friends.

Part 6: Lost and found

This page contains a map of things found on campus and includes information about each marker on the map below the map, including the person who posted it, contact info and a picture.

Part 7: Chat room

Here users can post into a live chat that is open to the public and is not saved.
